

Dinners And Luncheons Are Given In Honor Of A San Antonio Visitor

By OLIVE P. LANSSEN.

NUMBER of social affairs are being given for Miss Mildred Harrel, of San Antonio, who is here visiting Miss Evelyn Vowell at the Vowell country place in the lower valley. Miss Pearl Ponsford gave a Mexican supper during the past week for Miss Harrel and another very delightful affair was the luncheon, which was given in compliment to her on Thursday by Mrs. Charles Goetting at the Harvey House. The table for the luncheon service was daintily appointed and American Beauty roses employed in decoration. The guest list included a group of the most intimate friends of Miss Harrel's known when she made her home in El Paso several years ago. Covers were placed for Miss Harrel, Miss Pearl Ponsford, Miss Evelyn Vowell, Miss Sue Mayfield and the hostess. Another very charming courtesy for Miss Harrel was the dinner given in her honor on Wednesday evening at the Hunter home on Saint street, when Mrs. Fred Hunter was host. The table was decorated with crystal vases of American Beauty roses and covers

Young People Give Entertainment In The Wards Of The Base Hospital

MRS. H. C. GREER on Thursday afternoon chaperoned a group of young people of the War Camp Service who gave entertainment through the wards at the base hospital at Fort Bliss under the direction of the Fort Bliss Red Cross. Miss Jeanie Mae Langston sang "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" and gave a songophone solo. "You Can't Have the Key to My Cellar," Miss Florence Cathart read "A Book of Private Dreams and the Texas Bookie's Lament." Miss Tis Tynes gave a group of violin selections including "The Flower Song" and "Schubert's Serenade."

Friday evening will be a musical one at the Red Cross House at Fort Bliss. Among the numbers given will be vocal solos by Mrs. C. M. Melville Zussman of the medical corps, whose song recital a few weeks ago was much enjoyed. Le Roy Haysman, chief clerk at district headquarters will accompany Mrs. Zussman and will also give several piano solos.

Thursday evening the hostess of the Red Cross House at Fort Bliss arranged an automobile ride to Fort Stanton, El Paso and Clint for the nurses of the base hospital.

Valley Bridge Club Entertained Very Pleasantly Thursday By Mrs. Graves

MRS. HILTON ST. JOHN GRAVES entertained the Valley Bridge club Thursday afternoon at Fort's at Valetta. Quantities of roses, white, pink and crimson, brought from the Graves rose garden at El Nido, were used in decoration. These blossoms were placed upon the tables and piano and formed a floral screen for the windows, which afforded a view of the mountains of Mexico. High score of the afternoon was won by Mrs. Frank Howard and she received the first prize, a silver conserve spoon. Mrs. Christine Hoxie, house guest of the club members and received the first prize, a pair of white lace hose. The tally cards bore dainty designs of summer girls. Punch was served during the game and at the conclusion of the games a salad course and an ice cream were served from the tables. The guests present included: Mrs. Christine Hoxie, Mrs. E. W. Whittier, Mrs. E. W. Davis, Mrs. W. B. Glendon, Mrs. Frank Howard, Mrs. Louis Fox and Mrs. C. P. Lansden. Mrs. Lansden will be hostess to the club's next meeting.

Advice To The Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

UNCONVENTIONAL MEETINGS. Dear Miss Fairfax: Do you think it proper for a young woman, after going about with a man for two years, to meet him on the outside? Puzzled. No. It is just as proper or permissible under any circumstances.

IMAGINARY LOVE AFFAIR. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am in love with a young man who is not in love with me. This young man sometimes says he is engaged to a young lady, yet when she is spoken of he says he doesn't care for her. He has asked me to go out with him, but I refuse. Would you advise me to forsake him, or to wait for him, or to break his engagement, which he said he would do some day.

YOU are indulging in a very foolish dream. A man who speaks as this one does of the girl he is engaged to would be an undesirable person for any girl to marry. Your only source is to cease seeing him and to stop trying to stop thinking about him.

HAVE BECOME ESTRANGED. Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a young man for the past few months and have learned to care for him. All the time he has treated me very nicely and hinted at an early marriage. For the past few weeks I have noticed that his attentions to me were divided, and he was never on time when he had an appointment with me. He also tried to find reasons for my arguments. We went to the theater, and after the show he suggested a place where we could meet. I suggested a place where we could meet. He began to argue with me that a girl has no right to tell a man where to take her.

How can I meet him again? Would it be proper to write him a letter and make an appointment with him? Or should I call him up and try to tell it over? An Anxious Girl.

From your account of the young man's conduct, I do not believe you would have much comfort in renewing your friendship with him. It sounds to me as though he has been set on each other's nerves a little.

EL PASO SAILOR TO Return To His Home AND HE DID.

AS A BIRTHDAY PRESENT I'M GOING TO GIVE MY WIFE THE MONEY TO BUY A NEW DRESS!

Dear Miss Fairfax: Several months ago I met a girl for the first time and I asked her if she would go out with me, but she refused, saying that her parents would not allow her.

Now, Miss Fairfax, I know that the only possible way for us to continue our friendship would be for me to become acquainted with her parents. As she shows no signs of inviting me to her home, do you think it would be proper for me to suggest it to her?

Several times I have met her in church, but being refused once I would not ask her again if she will go out with me. I am very much interested in her.

I think it would be perfectly proper for you to ask the young lady if you may call on her, and I wish you the best of luck.

GIFT TO A YOUNG MAN. Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going about with a young man for six months. The young man's birthday is in a very short time, and as I received a birthday present from him I would like to know whether it would be proper for me to give him anything.

It would be perfectly proper for you to give the young man a birthday present. I would suggest a book, which is always an acceptable present and would be appropriate in this case.

TAKING HER HOME. Dear Miss Fairfax: We are both young girls and have lots of friends. The other evening two young men took us to a supper dance. While there a young man, who used to go about with my girl friend a great deal, joined the party. He asked me to see her home and she consented.
